NEWS RELEASE

Date: 3 July May 2007.
Subject: Spanish IRSA specialists in Argentina for dissemination of good practice

Within the framework of the UN Global Road Safety activities, IRSA organized special 2 days road safety workshops for the Argentinean traffic police officers in Parana, Argentina.

Thanks to the road safety activities of IRSA – Spain / TRAFPOL in Spain by organizing Road Shows for youngsters, it was possible to finance our own workshops.

Mr. Antonio Gomez Montejano and Dr. José Escalante, both traffic police managers in respectively Madrid and Burgos, presented during these two days a series of traffic enforcement topics that has successfully been implemented in Europe and in Spain in particular.

The two workshops were attended by hundreds of police officers from the various states in Argentina. Media and journalists were also present and presented the results of the sessions on television, radio and in the newspapers.

There was a unanimous appreciation for this initiative and the IRSA representatives received heart-warming thanks for their efforts. IRSA – Spain / TRAFPOL will give these first sessions a follow up with the creation of closer ties with the aim to establish an IRSA in Argentina similar like in Ecuador.
